Our Lady of Ransom

At the time when the Saracen yoke oppressed the larger and more fertile part of Spain, and great numbers of the faithful were detained in cruel servitude at the great risk of denying the Christian faith and losing their eternal salvation, the most blessed Queen of heaven came to remedy all these great evils, and showed her exceeding charity in redeeming her children. She appeared with beaming countenance to Peter Nolasco, a man conspicuous for wealth and piety, who in his holy meditations was ever striving to devise some means of helping the innumerable Christians living in misery as captives of the Moors.

She told him it would be very pleasing to her and her only-begotten Son if a religious Order were instituted in her honor, whose members should devote themselves to deliver captives from the Turkish tyranny.

Animated by this heavenly vision, the man of God was inflamed with burning love, having but one desire, viz: that both he and the Order he was to found, might be devote to the exercise of that highest charity, the laying down of life for one's friends and neighbors.

That same night , the most holy Virgin appeared to Blessed Raymond of Penafort, and to James, the King of Aragon, telling them of her wish to have the Order instituted, and exorting them to lend their aid to so great an undertaking.
